Please state why you want to become a member of this Board or Commission including specific objectives which you would work toward as a member.

I have been a resident of San Jose since 2012 and have always been impressed by the vital role the airport plays in our community. My interest in aviation first sparked during college when I took Ground School. This comprehensive course provided me with a foundational understanding of the principles of flight, navigation, weather systems, and aircraft systems. I learned about the vital role airports play in the aviation ecosystem and gained valuable insights into the regulations and procedures that ensure safe and efficient air travel. This experience fueled my passion for aviation and convinced me that I want to be involved in shaping the future of air transportation, particularly through my contributions to the San Jose Airport Commission. My specific objective would be to give District 5 a voice on this commission. District 5 does not currently have representation on this board and Council member Ortiz has given his blessing to my application, as District 5 would like to be represented at the February 12, 2024 meeting. I would check in with his staff and provide a channel between District 5 and this commission. My other areas of interest are air services and economic development: • Attracting New Airlines and Routes: Expanding flight options and destinations to connect San Jose with major hubs and emerging markets. • Cargo Facility Enhancements: Improving cargo handling infrastructure, particularly with AI.

Please state any other information which you feel would be useful in reviewing your application

San Jose is positioned to lead the nation in upgrading its commercial airport to the most technologically advanced and convenient airport in the nation. Mayor Mahan has a strong interest in bringing cutting edge technology to the infrastructure of San Jose. I have an interest in AI and, as an attorney, can contribute to the commission by monitoring relevant Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) regulations and identify policies that reposition the airport and its stakeholders in relation to AI to be ready for technological advancements in electric aircraft and autonomous aviation. Changes in passenger travel patterns or global cargo trends might necessitate adjustments to service offerings and infrastructure development once autonomous aviation becomes available.

Please describe your experience in serving on a Commission or Board.

Commissioner on the San Jose Charter Review Commission January 1, 2021-November 2021
• Examined the City of San Jose's governance structure and solicit community input on strong mayor and other potential charter reforms to improve and update the City's governance structure including but not limited to evaluating if the mayoral seat should be transitioned to the presidential cycle; evaluate transition of the election cycle for Council Districts; and consider additional measures and potential charter amendments, as needed, that will improve accountability, representation, and inclusion at San José City Hall.

Considering your experience and activities in business, labor, School, professional, social, Commissions, Boards, or other organizations, indicate the experience, training, knowledge and/or skills which qualify you for appointment.

I have the research, writing, and analytic skills that an attorney would have. My volunteering on the San Jose Airport Commission can be valuable to the city in several ways including: • Diverse perspective: Bringing legal knowledge to the Commission strengthens its decision-making by adding another layer of analysis and consideration. • Policy development: I could contribute to formulating policies that benefit both the airport and the city. • Stronger reputation and investor confidence: A city with a well-managed airport and commission framework attracts business investments and promotes economic growth. • Setting a positive example: my volunteering may encourages civic engagement amongst others in my field and inspires others to contribute their skills to the community, enriching the city's social fabric.

What is your understanding of the purpose of the Commission?

The Airport Commission's key responsibilities appear to be: Investigating and studying matters related to the Airport: • It delves into various aspects of the airport's operations, development, and impact on the community. This can include analyzing air traffic patterns, noise concerns, environmental impact, concessionaire agreements, and land use plans. Providing recommendations to the City Council and Director of Aviation: • Based on it's investigations and studies, the Commission offers expert advice and recommendations to guide decision-making related to the airport. This could involve suggesting improvements to facilities, proposing new services, or recommending policies that balance the airport's needs with community interests. Promoting and protecting air transportation: • The Commission recognizes the importance of air travel for San Jose's economy and connectivity. They advocate for policies that ensure the airport remains competitive, efficient, and accessible to travelers. Integrating the Airport with the community: • The Commission works to minimize the airport's negative impact on surrounding neighborhoods while maximizing its positive contributions. They consider noise mitigation strategies, economic development opportunities, and community engagement initiatives. Addressing public concerns: • The Commission provides a platform for public input and addresses concerns raised by residents and stakeholders regarding the airport's operations and development plans.

Please list three issues facing the City that you feel the Council should address.

In relation to the Airport Commission, 1. Integrating technological advancements with current infrastructure, and planning for that future infrastructure. 2. Planning for autonomous aviation. 3. Monitoring the changing landscape around AI and its use in air traffic control. I also think the following are important: • Electric Ground Support Equipment (GSE) Integration: Implementing electric vehicles for baggage handling and other ground operations to reduce emissions. • Noise Mitigation Efforts: Exploring strategies to minimize aircraft noise impact on surrounding communities. • Sustainable Airport Master Plan Development: Creating a roadmap for future development considering environmental and community concerns.

Question applies to Airport Commission

What are the three most critical challenges facing Mineta San Jose International Airport in the next five years? What do you bring to the table in terms of experience, expertise, or perspective to help address these challenges

1. Advancements in aviation technology and their potential impact on airport operations. 2. Community concerns and how the airport balances its needs with those of the surrounding area. 3. Balancing growth and sustainability. I have the research, writing, and analytic skills that an attorney would have. I also have community connections and would conduct my own outreach on these issues to problem solve with this commission. My volunteering on the San Jose Airport Commission can be valuable to the city in several ways including: • Diverse perspective: Bringing legal knowledge to the Commission strengthens its decision-making by adding another layer of analysis and consideration. • Policy development: I could contribute to formulating policies that benefit both the airport and the city. • Stronger reputation and investor confidence: A city with a well-managed airport and commission framework attracts business investments and promotes economic growth.

Question applies to Airport Commission

What can the Airport do to balance its obligations as a “good neighbor” and as a world-class international airport for Silicon Valley? If there is a conflict in achieving an appropriate balance, how would you resolve it?

The airport can monitor and discuss changes in technology that are cleaner, as they become cost-effective, and work to prepare its infrastructure and marketing to bring in advancements as they become available. I would resolve conflicts by conducting community outreach and balancing the conflicting opinions with the City's need to maintain and upgrade its world-class airport.

What can the City of San José and the Airport do to engage Silicon Valley business leaders and other communities to support the Airport's efforts to increase air service and add routes to SJC? What can you do personally to help achieve this goal?

The City of San Jose and the airport could use a multi-layered approach to business and public engagement, increasing air traffic, and adding routes to SJC. For Business Leaders: Highlight the Economic Benefits: Emphasize how improved air service attracts companies, facilitates global trade, and fuels economic growth in the region. Use data and examples to quantify the impact on jobs, investment, and innovation. Address Business Needs: Conduct surveys and focus groups to understand business travel needs and pain points. Tailor route development efforts to address those needs, focusing on destinations critical for business connections. Partnership and Incentives: Create a collaborative environment where businesses can actively participate in shaping the airport's future. Offer incentives and financial support for new routes demonstrably beneficial to the business community. Transparency and Communication: Regularly communicate progress, challenges, and opportunities related to air service development. This transparency fosters trust and encourages continued support. For Communities: Address Community Concerns: Acknowledge and address concerns about noise, pollution, and traffic congestion linked to increased air service. Proactively implement mitigation measures and ensure responsible growth. Community Outreach and Engagement: Organize town halls, public forums, and educational events to explain the benefits of improved air service and address community concerns directly. Focus on Shared Benefits: Highlight how new routes benefit not just businesses but also residents by increasing travel options, tourism, and cultural exchange. Partner with local organizations to showcase these benefits. Leverage Technology: Develop digital platforms for residents to provide feedback, track progress, and stay informed about airport developments. Additional Strategies: Joint Marketing Campaigns: Partner with business groups, tourism boards, and chambers of commerce to jointly market SJC and new routes to a wider audience. Data-Driven Approach: Utilize data analytics to identify underserved destinations with high potential demand and tailor route development efforts accordingly. Focus on Sustainability: Emphasize environmentally friendly practices and technologies implemented at SJC to address concerns about the airport's impact on the environment. I would need to be on the commission for a while, and work with CM Cohen and Matthew Kazmierczak before determining exactly how I could help.

Anything else you would like us to know?

I have a strong commitment to public service. Right now, San Jose has about 20 percent vacancy on its boards and commissions. I am confident that I can work effectively with the other Commission members and stakeholders to move the San Jose Mineta International Airport towards a model for efficiency and sustainability through integrating technological advancement as they become available.

They are responsible for advising efficient use of arts and cultural resources in the community. By helping and planning decisions to the city council in planning and making financial support that involve with cultural affairs, neighborhood arts and and other public art affairs that effect district 3.

Please list three issues facing the City that you feel the Council should address.

Funding for Mural projects and Support. How can we help to make sure there is enough funding for mural projects for artist and they are not self-funding. Some schools don't have funding for their art class, that requires teachers having to pay out of pocket or ask for donations from the community to help fund for art projects for the students. Having more events that involved teens in the art affairs, to help them be more creative to show their talents and help some stay off the streets.

It can help increase withing the community within the mental health and well-being. investing in art and culture attracts new populations and businesses to local areas, according to research by the Arts Council. The arts industry is also known to boost tourism (domestic and foreign) and the hospitality industry. Art is attractive source to tourism that it keeps asking for more. Art can also help preserve history. San Jose has so much history that helped build, not just withing this area but also the state of California. When we share our history through art it helps attract on lookers to want to learn more.

Question applies to Arts Commission

Should the City of San José have an active role in arts and cultural development? If so, in what ways and why?

City Of San Jose should have an active role because it can help bring the community together. Both culture and art are two wonderful ways of preserving or strengthening a strong community's sense of place, forging a personal identity, and showing your creativity. Art and culture boast multiple opportunities for learning, entertainment, leisure, personal growth, and improving communication with others. Crime Violence and drug problem has always been a problem with San Jose over the years since. I feel that having an active role in art withing the city of San Jose, that involve young and old like to bring them together to help/ volunteer to public works that involved art fairs or events, will help them stay busy and use their creativity and off the streets. Art is a social capital and can help bring up vibrant new ones, it can also help bring a healthy population within the mental and physical health alike. My goal in to advise with the city council for programs and policy is get the community involved in helping the development of San Jose. We just had the Cinco De Mayo parade recently. Also, when comes to have floats, get high school or middle schools involved to help building the floats for the parade. It will have students involved more and active to use their creative and learning to work together as a community. Want to help the City Council of Keep up to date with local cultural initiatives, events, and policies, that if schedule can meet, they can show up and support the local community. Want to make sure financial support and decisions are use in the right area for cultural development that will benefit for the city of San Jose and bring more attracrction involved not just withing the community but tourism as well.

Please state why you want to become a member of this Board or Commission including specific objectives which you would work toward as a member.

I have been involved with various advocacy efforts and civic responsibilities for the past four years, from volunteering to supporting campaigns. More and more, I am allocating time to arts advocacy efforts. I finished a three-year term on Local Color's board. I've also organized efforts to put on multi-medium, intergenerational concert experiences that divided revenue equitably to all of the performing artists while producing a BIPOC music and arts series, Colour Me GOLD. I've learned that the arts community is among the most vulnerable. According to a study conducted from 2006 to 2012, while the non-white population in the valley represented almost half of the total population (48 percent), little more than a third of all reported working artists were people of color (36 percent) ("We Are Enough" Maribel L. Alvarez, Ph.D.). So not only are our artists underrepresented in "positions of influence," but there are compounding challenges from a difficult year within the creative sector (AB5, COVID-19). As an Arts Commissioner, I hope to be a voice for underrepresented communities and identities (East San Jose, LatinX, son of an immigrant parent, bi-racial/bi-cultural). Two objectives within my term would be to increase representation across various arts commissions and to support transparency on art funding while advocating for funds to be allocated locally when possible. I think these two platforms would be transformative and unifying for our commissioners, creatives and artists, the San Jose community, and elected officials.

Please state any other information which you feel would be useful in reviewing your application

I recently resigned from my role as Deputy Director for the School of Arts and Culture at MHP after being an employee for four years. Here are some accomplishments I was able to do during this year with my team: Statewide & Local Initiatives – Directed all efforts for the School of Arts and Culture at MHP, in partnership with California Arts Council and SVCCreates, and launched a $1 Million workforce initiative for Art Administrators of Color across the state, including vetting 100-panel referrals and selecting/convening 35 experienced arts administrators and culture bearers to select the inaugural CAC ACF cohort, advocating for Commendations from CAC for Host Orgs./Fellows, while helping position SOAC as a “statewide” entity. – On August 31, 2022, I was the lead organizer for San José’s first-ever Creative Sector Mayoral forum. That forum was co-hosted by multicultural organizations, the Silicon Valley African Film Festival, MACLA, San Jose Jazz, and San Jose Taiko. It showcased a “Mini-Art Gallery,” a Latin Jazz trio, poetry, and more typical elements such as audience questions and deliberation on various community issues and hot topics. The forum had a strong turnout, reaching audiences who do not always find forums accessible or welcoming (300+ RSVPs). Fund Development – Fund Development: Lead efforts on our Sponsorship Program, including creating a Sponsorship Tracker (Pivot Table, Outreach List, Summary Sheet), partnering with a record number of City Councilmembers, and nearly doubling sponsorship revenue from 2020 to 2023 (and on pace for 2024), – In collaboration, created pitch decks with MarCom for MRR, Production, Sponsorship, and CEP (in progress). This helped set up our team to scale revenue, foster partnerships, and set up staff ambassadorship. Improved Infrastructure and processes adopted by SOAC – Created a new Staff Mtg Structure (Rotating Mondays with different intentions/focuses), including a staff meeting Template (I adopted a template from a board I served on) – Hiring Docs/Templates: Onboarding Doc (there wasn’t an onboarding process per se when I stated. This doc was later improved visually by Jess), Hiring Panel Scoring system and rubric (I adapted this from a panel scoring system I served on), Cross-Department Deliverables Matrix (designed by Kooltura), MOCHA Project Plan for Signature Events (later adapted with the same format as the previously mentioned Matrix), helped launch a RoadMap Committee to address ops/processes functions. Ambassadorship/Visibility – Ambassadorship/MarCom Support: I activated our dormant LinkedIn account by replicating SOAC social media content from IG/Facebook (including leveraging account credit to invite people to follow). – Increased visibility and reach of events by suggesting that Kooltura/SOAC post graphics and bios for vendors, artists, and talent. Before that, La Plaza hadn’t normalized this – Consistently posted during lockdown; was a core member of our Mercadito team; helped navigate early versions; solicited volunteer support before it was regular and when it was in high demand; supported outreach for our testing and walk-up clinic by GHS.

Please describe your experience in serving on a Commission or Board.

I was appointed as Arts Commissioner for the City of San Jose by D5 Councilmember Magdalena Carrasco in June of 2022. Since then, it's been a joy to learn about the work of the Arts Commission and the Public Art Committee, which I am a member of. While I initially found that navigating City / Commissioner processes has a steep learning curve, I believe I am contributing by doing my diligence, asking questions, and contributing in a variety of ways to the commission, including volunteering for panels and representing my district by being engaged, inquisitive and active.

Considering your experience and activities in business, labor, School, professional, social, Commissions, Boards, or other organizations, indicate the experience, training, knowledge and/or skills which qualify you for appointment.

My experience as Partnership Manager and Downtown Doors Director at the San Jose Downtown Association gave me relevant real-world opportunities to directly work with Downtown small businesses, sponsors, and city representatives. Notable experiences include developing being a liaison for the Historic District and tripling attendance from the previous year, while bringing a record number of Small Business Saturday sign-ups in this role. I also supported working with OED and surrounding businesses to hang 7 banners on Post Street, supporting activation and rebranding initiatives. Lastly, I developed a new business onboarding process with the City; supporting new businesses with basic marketing and promotions and coordinating Ribbon Cutting Ceremonies. Working with diverse constituents while driving results and initiatives could prove helpful in serving various Commissioners, elected officials, city staff, and community stakeholders.

What is your understanding of the purpose of the Commission?

The Commission is an advisory body that provides the City Council with advice and recommendations on City policies and programs that affect public access to arts and cultural opportunities in San José. The Arts Commission has 11 members appointed by San José City Council. Each member serves a 4-year term, with a maximum of 8 years (re-appointment).

Please list three issues facing the City that you feel the Council should address.

1. A lack of diversity on commissions and boards from underrepresented communities of color. 2. More transparency/accessibility when it comes to City spending, including an enhanced community outreach and engagement process adopted. Specifically, having Arts funding and programming fed to and through local talent. 3. Increased public funding mechanism with an emphasis on local. This can include a "Private Percent for Art" policy, allocating a greater portion of Transient Occupancy Tax (TOT) revenue to arts, culture, and tourism programs, and other avenues explored during the Council's recent study session on Arts, Destination Marketing, and Destination Events (Feb. 16, 2024).

Question applies to Arts Commission

Describe recent San José arts activities you have participated in during the last twelve months (up to five activities) and what drew you to attend?

I collaborated with SJMA to create their first residency, "Hip, Hop(e), Jazz & Storytelling" with Francis Experience, Illuminate SJ Now!, and a roster of guest poets is a three-part performance series that launched in November 2023 and will conclude in May 2024. We also successfully co-authored a California Humanities grant to support all of the artists involved. The first two cross-medium performances was sold out and garnered rave reviews—much of the feedback made use of the word "awesome!"

Question applies to Arts Commission

Describe the ways in which you believe the arts bring value to the general community.

Our Santa Clara County Poet Laureate, Yosimar Reyes, offered this message on the value I bring to the general community: Jonathan's approach to his craft is deeply rooted in community engagement and collaboration. He possesses a rare combination of artistic vision and a genuine desire to uplift others, which has undoubtedly enriched the cultural landscape of Santa Clara County. His inclusive programming and keen understanding of the importance of mutual support have made him a valuable asset to our local arts community. I firmly believe that Jonathan's recognition is long overdue. This opportunity would not only validate his contributions thus far but also provide him with the platform and resources to further develop his artistic practice. Jonathan's unique perspective and dedication to his craft make him deserving of this honor, and I am confident that he will continue to make significant strides in his artistic journey with the support of this recognition.

Question applies to Arts Commission

Should the City of San José have an active role in arts and cultural development? If so, in what ways and why?

I believe so. I think the City should maintain the responsibility of catalyst, backer, and ally all at once. The City should bring different arts and cultural organizations together for shared spaces and support economic development within these local communities. The local economy should, by extension, keep creatives engaged, employed, and active.

Question applies to Arts Commission

How can you contribute to advising City Council on policy and programs related to cultural development in San José?

I can leverage my civically engaged networks and circles to involve community engagement in decision-making. I can take up outreach to help with representation of diverse representation and support streamlining, documenting, and creating processes and procedures to allow progress to be tracked.

What is the purpose of historic preservation in San José and what is the role of the Historic Landmarks Commission in achieving that purpose?

Please explain your prior experience with historic preservation, with San José's public planning processes, and in working with City or other public agency staff.

Please state why you want to become a member of this Board or Commission including specific objectives which you would work toward as a member.

I developed and proposed budgets, contributed to the company budget, and ensured my department runs in an efficient manner and meets its goals but more importantly, I am passionate about the arts. When community members see themselves reflected in social spaces, they feel a sense of respect. I want to expand a vibrant arts community to attract and retain people in the community – and in building belonging – arts, and culture need to be fundamental components of city planning. Also, I want more art walks and neighborhood arts to impact how people relate to familiar spaces, create a sense of place, and foster a sense of attachment and belonging to the community.

My experience aligns well because of my roles as Adjunct Faculty at Ohlone College and San Jose State University in interacting with BIPOC students, businesses, artists, non-profits, and other intersecting identities.

Please describe your experience in serving on a Commission or Board.

I have served on non-profits but on City Government Boards.

Considering your experience and activities in business, labor, School, professional, social, Commissions, Boards, or other organizations, indicate the experience, training, knowledge and/or skills which qualify you for appointment.

Lead team meetings and progress monitoring to ensure goals are being met. Extensive Community engagement within San Jose. Ability to work well with others, experience with working with the public & how to read/interpret budgets.

What is your understanding of the purpose of the Commission?

To be an advocate for the arts but also reviews art acquisitions, arts programs, public art projects, and grant applications from cultural groups and recommends levels of funding for them to the City Council.

Please list three issues facing the City that you feel the Council should address.

1. Housing 2. Economic Development/Small businesses 3. Infrastructure: Parks, roads, bike lanes, etc.

Question applies to Arts Commission

Describe recent San José arts activities you have participated in during the last twelve months (up to five activities) and what drew you to attend?

Make Music San José, Avenida de Altares, Folkloreada, Chile, Mole Pozole, San José Day art show, and others. I am a native of San Jose and always go to events that promote culture and arts.

Question applies to Arts Commission

Describe the ways in which you believe the arts bring value to the general community.

Arts impact how people relate to familiar spaces, create a sense of place and foster a sense of attachment and belonging to the community. Also, an increase in arts educational experiences has remarkable impacts on students' academic, social, and emotional outcomes. I have seen this with my work at the School of Arts.

Question applies to Arts Commission

Should the City of San José have an active role in arts and cultural development? If so, in what ways and why?

Yes! Public art is vital to placemaking but as we know a statue, plaque or mural will not contribute to economic recovery. By taking a more holistic approach and thinking about how a development can provide or safeguard space for local artists we can support jobs as well as create lasting vibrancy. This may mean less financial return for developers in the short term, but long-term investors understand that there are clear commercial benefits in nurturing arts and culture as part of the fabric of a place. The economic development agendas of 21st-century cities must acknowledge this reality and the role that vibrant places, arts, and music scenes play in facilitating this.

Question applies to Arts Commission

How can you contribute to advising City Council on policy and programs related to cultural development in San José?

I want to expand the reach of arts, culture, and history for all with an emphasis on underserved and underrepresented artists and communities. I think the City is doing great but there is room for more. Create a Communications Plan that raises visibility and awareness of arts, culture, and history programs offered in the City of Falls Church: CATCH (City of Arts, Theatre, Culture, and History) branding.

I graduated from Cupertino High School in 1984. i graduated from the Fashion Institute of Design and Merchandising in San Fransisco in 1986. I attended SJSU and took some business courses yet did not graduate. I became an HR manger and stayed busy in that career for over 25 years. During this time I took many HR courses and HR Law courses. I had to stay current with laws and policies so classes and certifications were ongoing. I started my own consulting company, Adamski Consulting, which allowed me the flexibility to set my own hours while raising my two children. I worked with such companies as Apple Computer, Philips Electronics, National Semiconductor, Idexx Laboratories, Logitech, Hewlett Packard, and Amazon. During the last 10 years of my HR career I was studying and practicing Shamanism. I slowly transitioned out of Corporate America, and into my spiritual and creative arena. In my current practice I guide people as they step into their spiritual selves, I heal with energy and vibration, I help them reconnect with their true self, and more. You can learn more at my website: ShamaMama.com. I teach people to Walk In Beauty. I also teach meditative art one on one or to large groups. I lead sound baths for county employees every week. I lead community drumming circles. And, I have had the pleasure of painting a couple of ArtBoxes in my neighborhood...so fun! In 2019 I was honored to receive a Star 9 Award from Mayer Sam Liccardo and Council Person Pam Foley. Such an honor!

Please state why you want to become a member of this Board or Commission including specific objectives which you would work toward as a member.

I would like to be involved with bringing more joy and beauty to our community trough the arts. There are so many opportunities to bring sparks of inspiration and happiness to city by being open to an abundance of artistic expression. Everyone is an artist and our community is our canvas. I hope to work with others to implement ideas and inspire creativity within residents. I want to make smiles bloom on peoples faces as they drive/walk/bike through town. A little bit of art goes a long way to making someones day. And I would like to create MOMENTUM within the community to bring in more art in countless ways. Often, when someone finds joy in a piece of beauty they have seen or heard during their day, they are often motivated to want to share with others, then a fabulous momentum starts.

Please state why you want to become a member of this Board or Commission including specific objectives which you would work toward as a member.

As a resident of District 3 in downtown San Jose for over a year now, the challenges and opportunities the city faces in its pursuit of its Climate Smart plan present themselves to me unavoidably on a daily basis. I see poverty and vacant lots void of both people and plants, and yet, in those same scenes, I see new opportunities for our community's workforce and ideal locations for future greenspace. More specifically, as the city seeks to densify and embrace our Californian climate, I look to the downtown area where I live as the optimal proving grounds for the techniques needed to achieve these lofty goals. In particular, where we have lost businesses and seen the deterioration of infrastructure throughout the challenges of COVID-19 and the past few years, we have the potential to infuse our community with new parks, urban gardens, and solar arrays, which would serve to reduce the urban heat island effect, increase local access to fresh produce, reduce flood risk, and create highly local jobs with little to no vehicle commute, all while making the surrounding area more appealing to prospective residents. And when new residents choose to move into densely populated areas like my own downtown district, the population density of the city as a whole benefits. In short, I want to support my district in this Climate Smart-aligned effort to increase local greenspace, sustainable agriculture, and clean energy, for both the immediate benefits to our current downtown San Jose residents, and the broader, long term benefits to our global climate.

Please describe your experience in serving on a Commission or Board.

Sustainability Committee - University of Wisconsin-Platteville (2020 - 2022): I served as the student representative on the UW-Platteville Sustainability Committee for two years during my undergraduate studies. In this capacity, I sought out student opinions and ideas on upcoming university decisions relevant to sustainability, and advocated for them amongst the rest of my committee members. During this time, we oversaw the completion of the largest on campus solar array in Wisconsin higher education, an effort that was originally student motivated, and attained a university-wide commitment to net zero waste by the year 2035.

Considering your experience and activities in business, labor, School, professional, social, Commissions, Boards, or other organizations, indicate the experience, training, knowledge and/or skills which qualify you for appointment.

Advocacy: In the past several years, I worked as a leader in several grassroots environmental campaigns, two of which I touched on briefly in a previous response. In one such effort, I worked with a group of my peers to petition, and ultimately work alongside, university leadership to achieve not only a commitment to 100% renewable energy by the year 2030, but also the construction of an entirely onsite solar array. This project taught me the framework that enables an individual to consider the ideas and opinions of their community members, develop a specific, attainable action plan centered around those ideas, and engage the relevant authorities in a productive manner. Technical Project Management: During my previous job at Los Alamos National Laboratory, and my current job at SLAC National Accelerator Laboratory here in the Bay Area, in my capacity as a project manager, I coordinated the effort and talents of individuals from separate groups and divisions, devised realistic budgets and timelines, and maintained consistent and transparent communication with all stakeholders throughout the entire process. This work has given me a realistic sense of the feasibility and requirements of large scale projects in the public domain, and leaves me well equipped to offer prudent, helpful advice on the proposal and completion thereof. Current Community Involvement: I am an active member of several community organizations, and a volunteer with the Midpeninsula Regional Open Space District. In these capacities, I frequently hear from my peers and fellow community members on the challenges and opportunities our city, and broader region, has before us. This exposure leaves me well prepared to represent the views of a diverse cross section of our city.

What is your understanding of the purpose of the Commission?

This commission has been tasked with developing specific recommendations based on a sound understanding of the City's Climate Smart plan that simultaneously represent the interests and needs of our community's residents, businesses, and organizations, through guidance provided to the City Council and City Manager.

Please list three issues facing the City that you feel the Council should address.

1) Urban Green Space: Especially near my home in District 3, there are still large areas within the city that are predominately void of green space, and these areas are often inhabited by lower income or unhoused residents, which creates a wealth-based discrepancy in green space access. Through the creation of new parks and living community spaces, we can work to increase equity of access to our natural world. This step would serve several key strategies within the Climate Smart plan, including embracing our Californian climate and densifying our city through an increase in the appeal and livability of densely populated areas. 2) Highly Local Agriculture: This opportunity ties closely to the previous. Through the establishment of more community gardens and very small scale urban farms, we can increase green space and the availability of local produce in lockstep, while simultaneously reducing the distance food has to travel to reach our residents' plates, another key strategy in the Climate Smart plan. 3) Access to Local and Regional Parks Through Public Transportation: While the greater Bay Area is home to countless parks and open spaces, residents are often required to rely on cars to reach them due to a lack of current public transportation access to these areas. If we want to aggressively cut down on the use of private, carbon-emitting vehicles in our community, we cannot ignore the resulting challenges that will be posed to green space access. By increasing the availability of public transport to the region's parks, we can not only reduce our vehicle-related carbon emissions, we can also increase equity of access to the natural world by providing those without a vehicle quick transportation to the region's parks for the first time.

Question applies to Climate Advisory Commission

Based on the stakeholder categories you selected, please briefly describe your qualifications and applicable experience. Please attach resume at the end of the application.

As a current San Jose resident living in District 3, I am intimately familiar with the challenges and opportunities unique to our city's downtown areas. Through my supplementary involvement in local organizations and frequent participation in downtown events, I have ample opportunity to hear to opinions, challenges, and ideas of my fellow residents. I care about both our shared neighborhood and our shared future. During my time at the University of Wisconsin-Platteville, in addition to my participation in the student driven advocacy groups described previously, I also served on our Student Senate, during which time I became intimately familiar with the process of gathering feedback and ideas from the students I represented, and developing guidance, plans, and proposals that reflected the nature and content of this feedback. Finally, as an engineer at SLAC National Accelerator Laboratory, a Department of Energy research facility, I am continually exposed to novel science and technology, as well as the voices and interests of those working in the research sector in our area. This position leaves me well suited to search for innovative approaches to the complex challenges facing our residents and infrastructure.

Question applies to Climate Advisory Commission

Given the small number of committee members, having a quorum is essential. Please describe your ability to make a commitment to attending and actively contributing to the committee (The committee will meet at least quarterly and in the evenings, but may meet more frequently in the early stages)

Although I do work full time, my hours and schedule are highly flexible, and I can consistently meet on weekday evenings and weekends. Beyond the committee's regular meetings, I also have a significant amount of time available to work with my local residents and fellow committee members on carefully considered proposals and recommendations. I also have a vehicle and can travel to in person sites around the city if necessary.

Anything else you would like us to know?

I care deeply about our beautiful city, our diverse residents, and our shared future.

Question applies to Housing and Community Development Commission

If you are applying for the Lived Experience Seat, please describe your experience with homelessness. Include when and for how long you experienced homelessness, and any information you'd like to share about how you lost your housing.

i was homeless as a 15y old young person with no formal education or language , worked low pay job as waitress , struggled because I was unfamiliar w justice systems in CA, got exp w fam court with divorce and custody and child support. As a result became homeless with no resources or income and no work permit. Because I had minimal income, I was unable to afford housing because any income I received went to visitation fees and child support. i had to pay 100% of the visitation fees to see my children. Because of my homelessness, lack of resources, and frustration I ended up with criminal court cases. I lost my children in juvenile dependency court while in crises with out support again. The last time i was homeless was a cancer patient in 2007 and 2009. I have been housed now for 14 years and want to be a voice for the voiceless like i was. I was an addict and alcoholic for two to three years with no desire to live. Today I am proud to be clean and sober for 15.5 years. I have been restored to sanity and have been an active and productive member of my community.

Please state why you want to become a member of this Board or Commission including specific objectives which you would work toward as a member.

I want to join this commission to repay the institution that changed my life forever. My local library was the first educational institution that exposed me to technology, the benefits of possessing research skills, the gift of storytelling, and the power of individual choice. Throughout my career as a teacher, school administrator, program manager, ed-tech account manager, and education solutions executive, the above elements have become interchangeable in every position I've held and challenge I've worked to overcome. The life choices I've been afforded result from learning how to leverage technology, pursue answers to tough questions, and speak to others with conviction and empathy. These are a direct result of my early years in my local library. As a child, my summer break consisted of walking to my local library with my mother and sister 2-3x a week. Our library held an annual summer challenge to read 30 books or more. We always accepted the challenge. In fact, we were so familiar with our local library that we knew our librarians personally. They would direct me toward the new Berenstain Bears books and Babysitter's Club books for my sister. They showed my mother how to print her poems and posters on their now prehistoric Macintosh Desktop computers. Furthermore, they glued us to our library by holding special community events like Saturday story time, arts and crafts days, and school supply drives for parents needing a little support. My local library even provided some of my first opportunities for public speaking during cultural events like the July 4th and Juneteenth Celebrations. I want to join the Education and Library Commission to actively support bringing the best part of my childhood library to the South Bay. As a member of this commission, I would have two central objectives. First, to empower library staff with the resources to create learning opportunities, especially in technology and research, for adults and children from multi-lingual, migrant, and traditionally underserved groups. My secondary aim would be to rebrand libraries past the antiquated moniker of "home for books" to a living institution that actively and prominently promotes opportunities for kids to fall in love with literacy.

Please state any other information which you feel would be useful in reviewing your application

As stated above, my affinity for education and literacy began in my primary years. However, it crystallized into my lifelong professional pursuit during my secondary years, specifically in 7th-grade history. My teacher, Ms. Carolyn Jones, required us to write and speak daily. This class taught me that I am filled by hearing and sharing stories. I answered this calling to college, where I majored in History, and into adulthood as I spent five years as a History and Reading Teacher. I spent my teaching career supporting teenagers who read below their grade level, a proverbial life sentence to a professional and financial existence of "almost" and "not quite enough." My superpower is motivating someone to take an interest in what they feel is no longer essential to them but vital to their survival. I am a master at marketing and motivation.

It is important to note that I do not engage in business with public libraries and non-profit organizations. I hope this information provides transparency and clarity.

Supplemental Questions

If applicable, have you ever attended or watched a meeting of the Commission(s) to which you are applying?

☒ Yes ☐ No

Would you be available to attend meetings at the scheduled time?

☒ Yes ☐ No

Please describe your experience in serving on a Commission or Board.

I served on the advisory board for a religious-based youth development organization for two years. My role was to meet and vote on high-level decisions regarding the organization's budget and advise the leadership team on strategic plans.

Considering your experience and activities in business, labor, School, professional, social, Commissions, Boards, or other organizations, indicate the experience, training, knowledge and/or skills which qualify you for appointment.

As an experienced reading teacher and K-8 administrator, I have first-hand experience cultivating literacy initiatives and programs to guide young readers toward a lifelong love of reading. In my first year of teaching, I increased my school's state proficiency in social studies standards by 19%. Additionally, as a former school administrator, I am familiar with the power of family engagement as an instructional and academic strategy for student achievement and development. I once boasted the lowest suspension and expulsion metrics in my school network. These experiences in school-based education will be helpful to the commission as we consider large-scale approaches to building trust and attracting young readers and families to our programs and buildings. As a former program manager for a San Jose education-based non-profit organization serving East San Jose, I am familiar with the challenges of our highly diverse city. Within this role, I trained dozens of staff members on youth development, partnership management, and academic intervention. From this experience, I will add value to the commissions's strategic planning conversations for events, partnership relations, and training. As a former ed-tech account manager for Imagine Learning and ChalkTalk Solutions, I am certified in data analysis and successfully used this skill to manage customer retention and success. I have led digital implementation programs for organizations as large as Miami-Dade Public Schools, the fourth largest district in the U.S., and mid-size organizations like Milwaukee Public Schools and Dysart Public Schools. As the commission considers strategies for launching new initiatives, I will be able to support the team with my knowledge of implementation science for digital solutions in education. During the pandemic, I provided professional and youth development training for two West San Jose and New York City organizations. I trained educators and students on social-emotional development and navigating challenging relationships with parents and students in both instances. As a Solutions Executive for Scholastic, I advise California school and district administrators on trends in educational policy and funding cycles and recommend tools to fulfill their long-term goals for student achievement. Furthermore, I work with administrators to produce family and community engagement initiatives and professional learning for educators. As part of the commission, I would bring my knowledge of education based public policy and solutions development to forecast steps for success and early identification of potential threats. Lastly, as I am tied to Scholastic, the world's largest network of literacy champions, I possess a vast network of subject matter experts aligned with the commission's mission and goals.

What is your understanding of the purpose of the Commission?

The purpose of the Commission is to provide community representation and visibility into decisions that support the structure and success of our city-based libraries and educational initiatives. The Commission identifies the macro educational needs of the community and advises library teams on how to foster the city's resources to meet those macro needs.

Please list three issues facing the City that you feel the Council should address.

1. The cost of living in San Jose continues to rise, and with it, so does the cost of child care. The academic achievement gap begins when parents cannot afford proper child care. Early childcare programs expose students to foundational academic and social skills. As a reading teacher, I know that exposure to foundational skills as basic as print concepts makes a massive difference in a child's kindergarten readiness. With our library resources, this is an issue the commission should address. 2. The distribution of wealth is a significant concern in our city. Street signs and zip codes make it all too clear who has access to more resources. Specifically, the commission should address inequities in generational wealth distribution by affording high-quality academic advising to secondary students. As a former tutor, I know how many outside resources well-off families employ to set their children up for success. Many San Jose families cannot afford to give their children a fair shot at navigating the A-G requirements and higher education. If students do not have a map for success, they won't know how to get there. 3. Many adults in San Jose hope to better their professional lives. Still, they do not have the money to afford an official education or the experience of learning asynchronously on an online platform. As we know from learning science, many adults need hands-on learning experience to develop new skills. The commission could address this by creating partnerships with training providers who can facilitate in-person options for adults to learn new skills directly from a teacher while their children receive suitable supervision.

Question applies to Library and Education Commission

What involvement have you had in library and/or early education issues?

I am an avid researcher in educational policy regarding the science of reading vs. balanced instruction, which is a current topic in early education. My involvement consists of advising school and district administrators on pedagogical decisions they should make to serve the needs of their individual communities. I also train parents on effective literacy strategies for engaging with their children outside of school.

Anything else you would like us to know?

I am excited about the prospect of joining this commission. San Jose is my home. I love it here and want to serve my community with all the skills, time, and effort I possess. I live just blocks from the MLK Library, and over the years, I have attended special events there, pulled from the stacks, and utilized the meeting rooms to work and study. If accepted to join this commission, I look forward to this being a mainstay in my experience as a resident of San Jose. I thank you in advance for considering my application.

Question applies to Arts Commission

Describe the ways in which you believe the arts bring value to the general community.

Oh wow, what a powerful question, I state this because the impact is deep and grand to our civilization. Art offers the celebration of preserving voices, images, expression, history, and beauty. It transcends any barriers of power, government, abilities, literacy, suffering, rigidity, structure, voice, education, caste structures, and invites abundance, limitless imagination of joy, sorrow, loss, vitality, piety, faith, inspiration, illusion, dreams, aspirations and the unknown. It benefits the community in many forms, first foremost it may build unity, celebration, voices, expression which allows many to partake, educate, and capture what is transcending with or community. It brings in all to experience ART as a benefit ... to limit, withdraw, or set barriers conveys a dangerous start of exclusion, socio-economic fragility which goes back to the pre-class and wealth para

Please state why you want to become a member of this Board or Commission including specific objectives which you would work toward as a member.

The Planning Commission touches on every aspect of our lives. It affects each of our families, friends, and colleagues. In my own life, I've seen my immediate family members taken advantage of by landlords, and subsequently get displaced. I also see the Commission's impact on kids' quality of life. Between my previous house and my son's elementary school there were 2 marijuana dispensaries, 4 liquor stores, and 3 abandoned auto repair shops - which made it difficult for me to let him walk to school on his own. In my work in San Jose's Parks & Recreation Department, on the freeways while driving to tech companies, at the network of Federally Qualified Health Centers I managed, throughout the local Superior and Federal Courts during the housing crisis, and as a father in District 2, I've learned a lot about the folks in this town and the issues we face. I want to help the people I've met along the way on the Planning Commission with data driven decisions that promote equitable housing and job growth, as promulgated by the General Plan. I also want to fight displacement and gentrification, particularly considering the effect it has on our underserved communities. Additionally, after working for multiple automated car and delivery-drone companies, I would like to see land use decisions that promote a connected and environmentally progressive city.

Please state any other information which you feel would be useful in reviewing your application

To summarize as best I can: I grew up in a household with a single mother who became an advocate for her fellow co-workers. She taught me to be engaged and understand the relationship between business and labor. In high school I learned all about San Jose, and loved it. I volunteered at Agnews, Sacred Heart, and the United Way. On weeknights after practice, and during the summers, I worked for the City in the Parks and Recreation Department at Mayfair, Guadalupe River Park, Ryland, Burnett, Fair, Camden, Seven Trees, James Lick, Leigh, and Alviso. In law school, I was student body president and voted student leader of the year. This taught me how to work with different types of personalities, and diplomacy. While in law school, I learned more about the kids in our city and the challenges they faced, while volunteering at Fresh Lifelines for Youth and as a mock trial coach at KIPP San Jose Collegiate. I also worked for a few courts. I spent time working for judges in the Superior Court on a criminal calendar on Hedding St., in the family court at Park Center Plaza, and in the US District Court on S. 1st Street. There, I learned more about the very real need to keep our citizens safe, and to be compassionate to those attempting to better their lives. I feel the courts have many parallels with the Planning Commission. In particular, regardless of what the Judge and their staff may feel about a case, they are not the policy makers. The legislators create the policy, and the Judges make sure they understand the law inside and out, and apply the relevant facts to the law. After law school, I spent a few years in the law firms, where I spent many billable hours navigating complex laws and regulations. I deliberately joined the board of Community Legal Services in East Palo Alto to see how to combat a housing crisis using class action lawsuits, community organization, and impact litigation. While I learned helpful tools to help residents after a housing crisis reached extreme levels, I learned more about the need to address difficult and complex planning issues before it is too late. After the firms, I spent time at automated electric vehicle and delivery-drone companies, where I studied the future of mobility, connected cities, reductions in pollution and VMT, and how these technologies can help the underserved. I also understand what it's like to run a nonprofit. After dropping in as CEO of Foothill Community Health Center, I spent every night pouring over cash flows, potential financing sources, commercial leases, working collaboratively with regulatory bodies at the local and state levels, and eventually merging the company with another – always with an eye toward employing the folks that live here, and maintaining the continuity of care of the 65,000 patients we served. Lastly, I understand the amount of time it takes to serve on this Commission. While considering applying, for each Planning Commission meeting I read all materials, visited all of the sites, and made sure to keep up on other commissions and committees that impact the Commission (e.g., the 2019-2020 General Plan 2040 task force). Additionally, I have attended many Planning Commission meetings during my career.

Please describe your experience in serving on a Commission or Board.

The common theme running through the boards I've served on is working toward an equitable community that supports its underserved. In Community Legal Services in East Palo Alto, we brought class-action lawsuits against unlawful housing practices. In the bar associations, I've worked to promote higher education pipelines in San Jose high schools, legal clinics for folks that can't afford lawyers, and diversity in the legal profession. And at the Community Health Centers, we provided primary, dental, pediatric, women's, and behavioral health care to 100,000 patients - 80% of whom use medi-cal - in Fremont, East San Jose, and Gilroy. Similarly, on the Health Advisory Commission I have advocated for those whose health is negatively affected by lead and other heavy metals in the environment.

Considering your experience and activities in business, labor, School, professional, social, Commissions, Boards, or other organizations, indicate the experience, training, knowledge and/or skills which qualify you for appointment.

I believe my experience working in the private, nonprofit, and government sectors give me unique and broad experience, and evidence my work ethic. I have two engineering degrees and a law degree; I practiced as a lawyer in law firms, startups, and currently at a Fortune 15 company. I also spent time as a kid working at over a dozen sites in the City, and I spent a short time as turn-around CEO of a health care nonprofit in the City with a $60M budget, 16 locations, and 400 employees. Given the broad array of topics that I have covered in my career, I am proud to say that I have developed an understanding that issues require an assessment of facts in order to identify solutions to problems. I consider myself to be driven by the principals of always wanting to help, and not allowing political philosophies to govern my decision-making.

What is your understanding of the purpose of the Commission?

The commission makes recommendations to the City Council on the projects and plans presented to it. It opines on whether projects and plans comply with the General Plan, adopts EIRs, reviews zoning proposals, and listens to the city staff and community.

Please state why you want to become a member of this Board or Commission including specific objectives which you would work toward as a member.

My desire to continue serving on the Planning Commission stems from my long-standing interest in urban development. Whether reading through Environmental Impact Reports for projects in the development pipeline or dialing into community outreach meetings, I've been ardently following San José's development even before my husband and I moved here in 2018. In recent years, my interest in urban development has taken on a new dimension as I've become increasingly aware of the role development and land use policies can play in advancing the City's goals and improving the lives of our residents. From meeting our RHNA housing production targets to safeguarding the City's long-term fiscal health, many of the City's most important goals are directly impacted by the Planning Commission's work advising on effective, equitable, and responsible use of our land. I would be honored to have the opportunity to continue working alongside the rest of the Commission to ensure that the City grows responsibly and remains a place where all our residents can thrive for generations to come. If selected for a second term, the primary objective I would work towards is combatting our housing crisis by facilitating increased production of new housing. With new residential building permits facing near-historic lows, and a challenging macroeconomic environment creating headwinds for the construction industry, it is critical that the City do everything in its power to pave the way for new housing production. For the Planning Commission, that primarily means ensuring that we are consistent in our application of the City's development standards, such that developers have a comprehensible and predictable entitlement process. As the City moves to implement the policies and programs outlined in our 2023-2031 Housing Element, the Commission will also have an important role to play in advising on the implementation of new policies aimed at spurring housing production, including the Small Multifamily Housing program (P-35) designed to allow missing middle housing in existing residential neighborhoods, and the Ministerial Approval Ordinance (P-7) designed to streamline the approval of infill housing developments.

Please state any other information which you feel would be useful in reviewing your application

I wanted to take this opportunity to provide more context about my background and personal motivation for applying to the Commission. I was born and raised in a working class family in Washington State. Neither of my parents had the opportunity to go to college, and my family faced our share of financial adversity, particularly after my father became disabled from chronic illness. After high school, I became the first person in my family to graduate college, receiving a B.S. in Computer Science from Yale University. After completing my studies, my husband and I moved to Silicon Valley to start our professional lives together. After several years of living on the Peninsula, we relocated to San José in 2018. Silicon Valley has offered us so many opportunities, and now I'd like to work with the Commission to ensure that San José remains a place of opportunity for all of our residents, not only those working in the tech industry.

Please describe your experience in serving on a Commission or Board.

I was appointed to the San José Planning Commission in April 2023 to fill a vacancy in the District 3 seat. In my first year of service on the Commission, I have participated in a wide range of deliberations, including approval of Conditional Use Permits, review of Site Development Permits and Environmental Impact Reports, advisement on General Plan Amendments and Urban Village Plans, and review of the City's 2023-2031 Housing Element. My time on the Commission thus far has given me hands-on experience with the Commission's workings and has allowed me to build productive working relationships with City staff and my fellow Commissioners that I believe will serve me well if granted the opportunity to serve a second term. Beyond my service on the Planning Commission, I have previous experience serving at the state level as a member of the Washington State Legislative Youth Advisory Council. The Council's legislative priorities during my tenure in the 2009-2010 legislative session included internet safety, environmental sustainability, and high school dropout prevention. In this role, I worked alongside my fellow council members to research relevant legislation, draft white papers on specific bills, and meet with members of the state legislature to discuss the Council's priorities.

Considering your experience and activities in business, labor, School, professional, social, Commissions, Boards, or other organizations, indicate the experience, training, knowledge and/or skills which qualify you for appointment.

I believe my first year of service on the San José Planning Commission has given me valuable first-hand experience and has prepared me well for continued service in a second term. My work on the Commission thus far has allowed me to participate in decisions regarding Site Development Permits, EIRs, Conditional Use Permits, and General Plan Amendments. This work has exposed me to various documents that directly govern the Commission's work, including the Municipal Code; 2040 General Plan; Citywide Design Standards; Downtown Design Guidelines; and the City's 2023-2031 Housing Element. In addition to my prior experience on the Commission, I believe that my professional history and volunteer experience have prepared me for continued service on the Planning Commission. While my work as a software engineer at Google may not be directly transferable to the Commission, I believe that my 10 years of experience working in the tech industry lends me valuable insight, particularly as the technology sector continues to play an ever larger role in our local economy. Moreover, my experience managing a sizable engineering team has granted me valuable real-world leadership and collaboration experience that I believe would serve me well on the Commission. Outside of my professional career, I have also taken on leadership roles in a number of community organizing initiatives, including my current role on the board of the South University Neighborhood Association. In this role I have engaged with dozens of local residents from our neighborhood to discuss issues that are top of mind for our community and organize social and neighborhood improvement initiatives. This opportunity has afforded me valuable experience in engaging with City residents and community members, a skill I believe is well suited for work on the Commission.

What is your understanding of the purpose of the Commission?

The Planning Commission has two primary responsibilities. First, the Commission serves as an advisory body for the City Council, providing recommendations on a variety of land use and development questions. These include advice on adoption or amendment to the City's General Plan and other development plans, as well as land use regulations such as zoning and subdivision. Outside of its advisory role on these questions, the Commission also has the authority to act in its own capacity in a few narrowly defined areas. These include certification of Environmental Impact Reports, deciding appeals of certain Planning Director decisions, and issuing of certain Conditional Use Permits as dictated by the Municipal Code. At a higher level, I believe the Planning Commission also has an obligation to ensure that the responsibilities listed above are carried out in an effective and equitable manner. By engaging early and often with the communities most affected by a given proposal, the Commission can help to ensure that the voices of all City residents are being heard and respected. In this way, the Commission can work towards a San José in which all members of our community can thrive.

Please list three issues facing the City that you feel the Council should address.

One critical issue facing the City that the Planning Commission will play an important role in addressing is our ongoing housing affordability crisis. Specifically, the Commission will be key to the adoption of General Plan amendments and rezonings aimed at increasing the number of new housing units built in the City. This is an area where the City has had mixed success in the past. For example, the City’s final report on progress towards our 2014-2023 RHNA goals shows that while we met 115% of our market-rate housing goal, we’ve only permitted 26% of our affordable housing goal. This equates to a shortfall of over 15,000 below-market-rate housing units over the past 8 years, compounding the previous 10,261 unit shortfall in BMR housing from the 2007-2014 planning period. These perennial shortfalls in BMR housing, combined with the dramatically higher housing targets for the impending 2023-2031 RHNA cycle (62,200 total units, 23,775 of them for lower-income households) signifies that affordable housing will remain at the forefront of the City’s challenges in the coming decade. Another key issue facing the City is the need to plan for our long-term fiscal health. The City has traditionally framed this issue around our jobs-housing imbalance, with a General Plan goal of increasing the City’s jobs-to-employed-residents ratio from 0.81 in 2012 to 1.1 in 2040. However, to date the city has struggled to make progress on this goal, with the J/ER falling year-over-year to 0.79 in 2022. As the City continues to grapple with high office vacancy rates and the ongoing impacts of remote work, it will be important for the Commission to balance the need for new housing construction with the preservation of jobs-supporting land such that the City has the funds necessary to support essential services for City residents. Finally, the Planning Commission will play an important role in helping San José meet its environmental goals related to reducing greenhouse gas emissions. With buildings accounting for nearly 40% of greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions in the United States, the Planning Commission will need to ensure developers are meeting their environmental obligations, both in terms of minimizing upfront “embodied emissions” from building construction and taking steps to minimize ongoing “operational emissions”. According to UC Berkeley’s “CoolClimate” initiative, increasing the operational efficiency of commercial buildings is the municipal policy tool with the most potential for decreasing GHG emissions in San José; CoolClimate estimates that commercial efficiency improvements could result in a reduction in the City’s CO2-equivalent (CO2e) emissions of over 450k metric tons by 2030. Other high-impact options for reducing San José’s GHG emissions include increasing density via urban infill development (320k metric tons CO2e reduction potential), and reducing vehicle-miles traveled (350k metric tons CO2e reduction potential).

Question applies to multiple boards

Do you meet the requirements for appointment to this commission?

☒ Yes ☐ No

Anything else you would like us to know?

I would like to take this opportunity to speak to the impact my appointment would have in ensuring the Commission is representative of our broader City community. First, to the best of my knowledge, I am the only openly gay member of the current Planning Commission. I am also the only Asian American member of the commission, and one of only two commissioners under the age of 40. These are not merely symbolic milestones, but rather lived experience and perspective that inform the priorities I bring to the Commission. As an example, research has shown that LGBTQ+ individuals experience homelessness at higher rates than the general population, with recent surveys finding that between 13% (2022) and 35% (2017) of Santa Clara County's homeless population are members of the LGBTQ+ community. The relative underrepresentation of Asian American residents on the current Commission is also notable, given the central role that Asian Americans play in our community. The latest Census Bureau estimates show a full 37.2% of San José residents are of Asian ancestry, making Asian Americans the single largest racial group in the City. It is critically important that our leaders embody the full diversity of our community, and that we represent the perspectives and interests of all members of our community.

Please state why you want to become a member of this Board or Commission including specific objectives which you would work toward as a member.

I live in San Jose and love my community, unfortunately I have noticed that many members of the community have no voice in the planning process. I want to be that voice for my community. I want to ensure that everyone has the best possible opportunity to enjoy San Jose and all the value that living here represents. Early in my career I learned the economic impact a lack of development has on poor communities. Leaving these communities to fall into decay and their residents were left to suffer. I came to recognize that these communities could thrive under careful planning. Planning that included them and not push them out of the way. All citizens deserve to benefit from growth and development, I want to make sure that happens.

Please state any other information which you feel would be useful in reviewing your application

I have spent most of my career in technology, planning, strategy and management. I believe these skills will be invaluable in the community and planning processes. I am a highly skilled professional that is dedicated to bringing the best possible solutions forward to better the community for all. I understand the roles that key stakeholders have, that all parties must participate to create the ultimate solution. I believe firmly in the values of a free enterprise but believe that it is responsible to the community it intends to serve.

Please describe your experience in serving on a Commission or Board.

I am currently the City-Wide Planning Commissioner and have served in this role for four years. I am also the Board President of two boards and serve on one other. As a member of the board of the Committee For Green Foothills, I attended all scheduled meetings and served on committees that furthered the organization's cause. I used my professional experience to help guide and improve the organization's effectiveness.

Considering your experience and activities in business, labor, School, professional, social, Commissions, Boards, or other organizations, indicate the experience, training, knowledge and/or skills which qualify you for appointment.

I am a professional planner and a highly skilled Economist and strategist. The ability to view and analyze multiple aspects of a proposal and determine a path that delivers the most benefit is a core skill for me. Empathizing with people and their needs is an essential part of the process for me. One of the key success metrics of my work is a clear understanding of the people you serve and their needs. The ability to bring forward constituents, give them a voice, and help elevate solutions to meet their needs while still allowing community growth is how I want to add value.

What is your understanding of the purpose of the Commission?

The Planning Commission is responsible for prudent and responsible planning decisions for San Jose. This includes creating a positive economic impact while having minimal negative impact on the environment, communities, and individuals. This important commission focuses on zoning, general plan, and capital improvement for San Jose. It also serves as an appellate body to some decisions made by the city's Planning Director. A key and important role is the certification of environmental impact studies. The Neighborhoods Commission serves as the voice of the community and works with city stakeholders to ensure the best possible quality of life for community members. Through studies, research and garnering community involvement this important commission acts to create solutions that help improve community life.

Please list three issues facing the City that you feel the Council should address.

Careful review and mitigation of the impact and displacement development has on the city's communities. Careful review and mitigation of the environmental impact on communities and the quality of life for the community. Careful review and mitigation of the impact of rezoning on communities.

What is the purpose of historic preservation in San José and what is the role of the Historic Landmarks Commission in achieving that purpose?

The Historic Landmarks Commission plays a pivotal role in the stewardship of our cultural legacy. In addition to curating the Historic Resources Inventory, they employ it as a strategic tool in our decision-making processes. Their responsibilities extend to evaluating land use and development proposals, particularly those with potential impacts on cultural assets.

Please explain your prior experience with historic preservation, with San José's public planning processes, and in working with City or other public agency staff.

As a current Planning Commissioner, I have been involved in multiple planning processes. Sometimes, the historic preservation review happens before the presentation to the planning commission, but sometimes, our review happens before. It is important to understand the implications of planning on historic preservation but not the principal role of the commission. We must consider the guidance from city staff on these issues before rendering any decision.

Please state why you want to become a member of this Board or Commission including specific objectives which you would work toward as a member.

If selected for the Youth Commission, I pledge to address the prevalence of homelessness in our community, which affects individuals of all ages. This challenge seeks an approach that provides immediate support through the creation of transitional housing, mentoring programs, and job training opportunities to help those experiencing homelessness regain stability and independence, all of which I look forward to helping the city get done. I also look to advocate for educational programs and projects that raise awareness about environmental sustainability and encourage community-led projects focused on conservation and climate action because these issues disproportionately impact marginalized communities. Furthermore, ensuring that all marginalized communities have equal access to resources and opportunities will be a priority, identifying and addressing barriers to full participation. Special attention will also be paid to fostering increased civic engagement among youth and providing practical ways for youth to participate in local decision-making processes. By fostering civic engagement in culture, we can empower young individuals to have a voice in policies and projects that impact their lives and communities.

Please state any other information which you feel would be useful in reviewing your application

Climate Action as well as combatting homelessness have always been two things that I have looked to address. In my time with the Youth Advisory Council of District 7, I was able to research the impacts of homelessness in San Jose as well as the prevalence of it in our San Jose community. This was then used as a basis for the homelessness presentation at our annual budget summit by Commissioner Megan Luong and Commissioner Deitra Hoang. I was also granted the opportunity to attend this summit and be a part of the climate action group, researching data on sustainable infrastructure which was then used for our budgeting presentation. Both of these topics were able to come out on top and received the most budgeting for them.

Question applies to Youth Commission

In one paragraph, please explain your community interests.

My primary community interests revolve around addressing pressing societal issues and promoting equitable access to opportunities for all. I am deeply passionate about combating homelessness by supporting comprehensive initiatives that provide transitional housing and wraparound services to help individuals regain stability and independence. I am also committed to environmental sustainability and climate action, advocating for educational programs and community-led projects that raise awareness and drive positive change. Ensuring marginalized communities have equal access to resources and opportunities is another key priority for me. I believe in identifying and dismantling barriers that prevent full participation, fostering an inclusive environment where everyone's voice can be heard.

Question applies to Youth Commission

What do you feel are some of the problems facing the youth of San Jose?

The youth of San Jose have been swallowed up in harsh reality. The rising cost of living, especially housing, makes it difficult to pay for necessities from just a minimum wage job, driving some to homelessness. As a result of this, the city has been labeled with the unfortunate title of the highest number of homeless youth in America. Mental health challenges are also on the rise. Even in the heart of Silicon Valley, some young people lack opportunities and resources. These are just some of the barriers facing San Jose's youth, and while there are organizations in place to address them, it's a complex issue that requires continued attention.

What do you feel the priorities of the Youth Commission should be?

The Youth Commission should host interactive workshops and engaging events that teach youth about local government processes, voting rights, and effective communication with city officials. The commission also should actively gather input from their peers through surveys or social media campaigns to ensure policy recommendations truly reflect the needs and priorities of San Jose's youth. By incorporating these youth voices directly, the Commission will strengthen the credibility and impact of its proposals. The Youth Commission should also advocate for community service and youth leadership development programs that encourage volunteerism and build valuable skills. These initiatives not only benefit the community but also foster a sense of ownership in the city's future among young participants.

Please describe your experience in serving on a Commission or Board.

N/A

Considering your experience and activities in business, labor, School, professional, social, Commissions, Boards, or other organizations, indicate the experience, training, knowledge and/or skills which qualify you for appointment.

Considering my extensive experience and well-rounded involvement across various organizations, I possess a unique combination of skills and qualifications that make me an ideal candidate for this appointment. Through my leadership roles, including serving as President and Regional Fundraising Coordinator for Key Club, I have honed exceptional strategic planning, execution, and team management abilities. Complementing my leadership experience is my entrepreneurial spirit, evidenced by founding my own community service organization called Snip of Kindness. This has provided invaluable experience in launching successful initiatives while showcasing my compassion for service. My involvement with the District 7 Youth Advisory Council and Vietnamese Student Association has deepened my civic engagement, cultural awareness, and commitment to promoting inclusive participation. Executing projects like community clean-ups and establishing nursing home entertainment partnerships have sharpened my skills in cross-functional collaboration, partnership building, event planning, and volunteer management.

What is your understanding of the purpose of the Commission?

The San Jose Youth Council plays a critical role in empowering and fostering youth civic engagement in our city. It serves as an official advisory body to the Mayor and City Council and makes policy recommendations directly related to issues and needs faced by youth in our communities. The Commission promotes equal access to resources and opportunities, with a particular focus on supporting marginalized youth. Through local and citywide programs and initiatives, the Commission promotes an environment in which youth can actively participate in public policy, learn about government, and advocate for their interests and priorities. The Center acts as a bridge, providing San Jose youth with an official forum to contribute their ideas, share their concerns, and help shape policies and programs that impact their experiences and the future of our community. By serving as this key link between youth and city leaders, the council ensures that youth voices are elevated and included in local decision-making processes.

Please list three issues facing the City that you feel the Council should address.

The interconnected issues of homelessness and affordability: San Jose's high cost of living, particularly housing, pushes some residents towards homelessness. The Council should explore solutions like advocating for affordable housing options and support services for the unhoused population. Fostering Youth Civic Engagement: San Jose's future depends on an engaged youth population. The Council should support the Youth Commission by providing resources and opportunities for workshops on local government, policy creation, and effective communication with city officials. This empowers young people to actively participate in shaping their city. Balancing Growth with Environmental Sustainability: San Jose is a growing city, but this growth cannot come at the expense of the environment. The Council should prioritize sustainable development practices, including investing in renewable energy sources, promoting green infrastructure projects, and tackling issues like waste management and pollution control. This ensures a healthy and sustainable future for all residents.
